

Petition Mania! / Israel's Oprah / Test Anxiety Solved

TIME

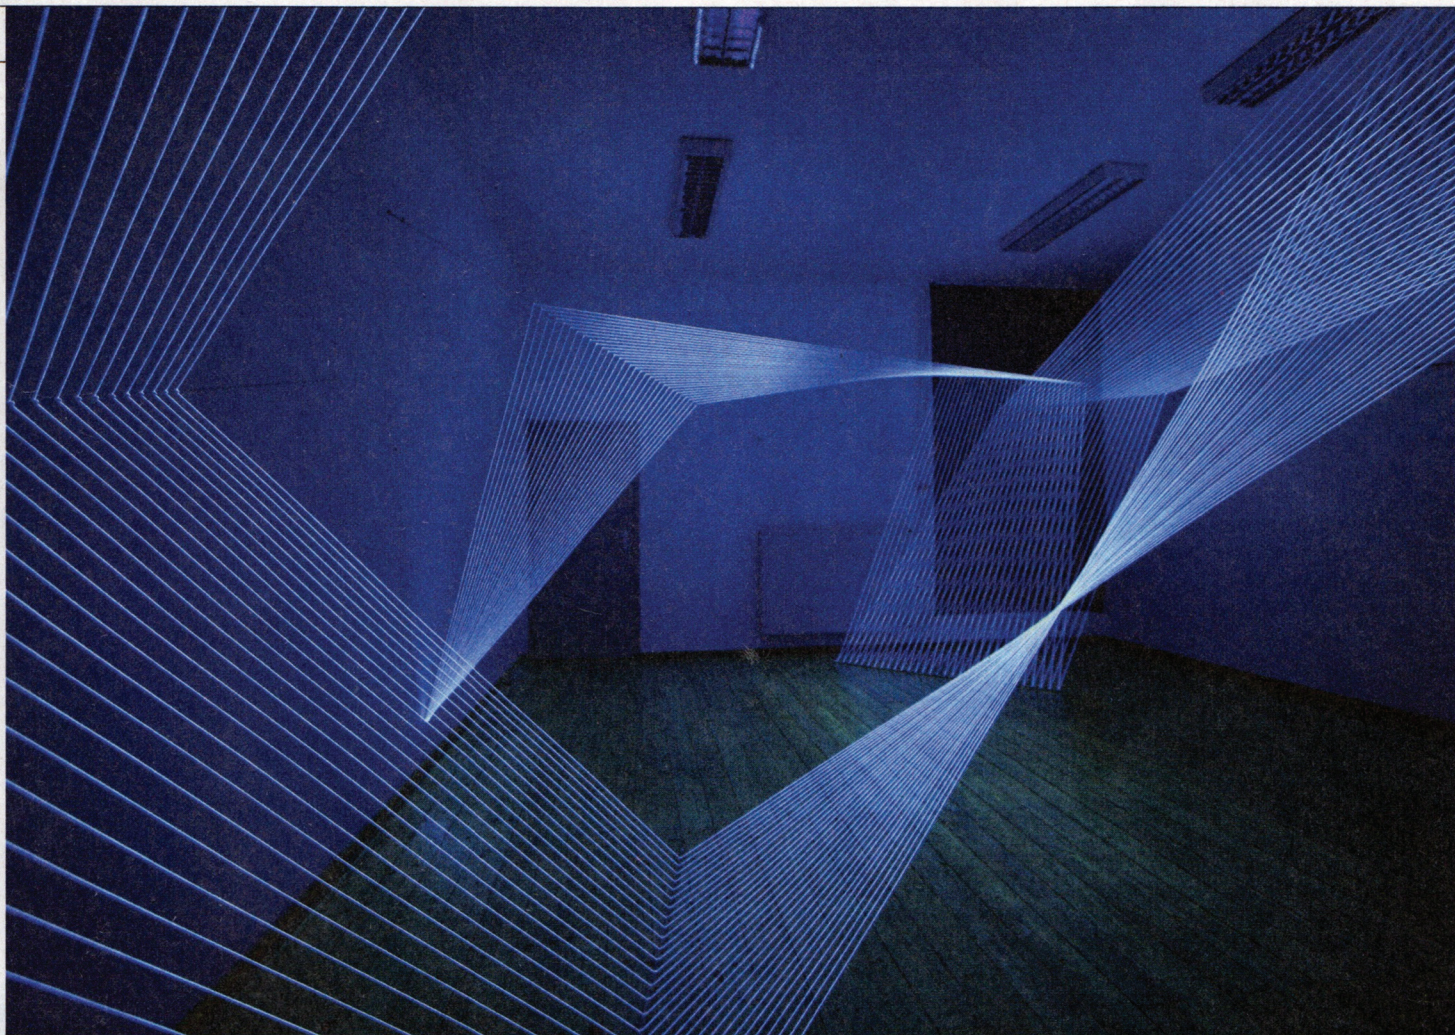

RISE OF THE DRONES

They are America's global fighting machines.
What happens when they're unleashed at home?

BY LEV GROSSMAN

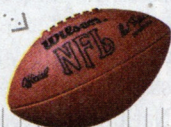

STRINGS THEORY They might look like laser beams, but those lines are actually thread; it's been illuminated with black light and meticulously arranged by Korean-born, Berlin-based artist Jeongmoon Choi. The installation above, Linescape - Motion, is part of her latest solo exhibit, "Drawing in Space," on display at Galerie Weisser Elephant in Berlin through Feb. 16.

TV Battling the Super Bowl

There's no way Downton Abbey will outdraw this year's Super Bowl, expected to lure more than 100 million viewers, but that's not going to stop PBS from trying: it's airing the hit soap against TV's most watched event. How will Downton fare? We look back at other notable attempts to counterprogram.

TOUCHDOWN!

FUMBLE

28.9
MILLION

IN LIVING COLOR
1992

Fox aired a live halftime version of the hit sketch-comedy show, which was raunchy and football-themed.

9.2
MILLION

PUPPY BOWL
VII
2011

The seventh edition of the Animal Planet staple—in which cute puppies "play" football on a miniature gridiron—was also its most popular.

5.4
MILLION

BEAVIS AND BUTT-HEAD
1994

MTV called it the Butt Bowl, but really, it was just a several-episode marathon of old Beavis and Butt-head episodes.

4.9
MILLION

PLAYMATE FEAR FACTOR
2002

This special edition of NBC's then hit reality show featured—surprise!—six Playboy Playmates competing in challenges that required bikinis.

0.86
MILLION

MAJOR LEAGUE EATING CHOWDOWN
2008

The winners of Spike's halftime competition downed 61 eggs and 7 lb. of ham in eight minutes. And you thought those nachos were bad ...

3 THINGS YOU DON'T HAVE TO WORRY ABOUT THIS WEEK

1. Finding an "original twist on the conventional memoir." Amy Poehler is apparently writing one, due next year.

2. Who your kids will be idolizing in 2014. Rowan Blanchard, 11, has been cast as Riley Matthews, daughter of Cory and Topanga, on Girl Meets World, a planned Disney Channel reboot of popular '90s sitcom Boy Meets World.

3. What to eat after midnight (or when you're tipsy). Taco Bell's CEO confirmed that a Cool Ranch Dorito taco is on the way.

MISSION KIMPOSSIBLE

457+

Days Kim Kardashian and Kris Humphries' divorce battle has dragged on, now six times as long as their marriage

